What did I get done today?

- Initial project planning
- Selection of three literature sources to read tomorrow.

How well did it go?

Today was not super productive. It is always hard to brainstorm alone. As I am writing this I realize that I probably should have brainstormed with a chatbot as that would have been better then nothing and I would have probably not had entered a creative rut the way I did today.

What will I do and be done with tomorrow?

Tomorrow I plan to have selected and read all the literature I plan to read for this project. I have already chosen three but want to see if I can find some more. But I will need to restrain myself as I only have 6 work days left.

I also want to get started with the design document tomorrow so that I can be done with it the day after tomorrow.
